Terms of Use

- Photos/video may be used in a range of Duncan Foundation or Duncan Foundation supported promotional materials, such as print and electronic media, including websites.
- The Duncan Foundation may edit or format photos/video for print or online.
- All published Duncan Foundation photos/videos can be copied or downloaded and used by other organisations.
- You have the right to request, in writing, that the Duncan Foundation stop using your photos/video.
- All Duncan Foundation photos are subject to Creative Commons licencing. This means that people are free to copy, distribute and adapt the photos from print and websites, as long as they attribute them to the Duncan Foundation.
- All photos are Duncan Foundation owned.

Note to photo directors and photographers:

- All people must be photographed holding their signed consent form so we can identify them. The photos of this must be provided in high resolution when the photographer provides the proofs.
